INSTRUCTIONS FOR PLANTING VIOLETS

Prepare your soil, deep, at least twelve inches. Violets do best in slightly acid soil. It is a good practice to dust the soil lightly with sulphur about every six weeks. Mix a tablespoonful of bone meal with the soil in the bottom of the hole where you set the plant. Leaf mould or peat moss should be worked into the soil liberally.

When the plants arrive, if they are fresh and moist, you may dip the roots in water and plant at once. If they seem dry or wilted immerse them, tops and all in a pail of water and let them soak three to twelve hours. Always thoroughly soak the ground at once after planting. It is always good to mulch around the plants with two or three inches of leaf mould or peat moss. Violets need rich soil. You may use cow manure if available, if not, use any good commercial fertilizer but be careful not to put it on the foliage, and not closer than three inches to the plant.

If you live where the winter is cold and the ground freezes hard you should protect your violets in late autumn with a deep mulch of leaves, light straw or similar material. In the spring remove all the mulch but about an inch or so.
